

Seed Ideas

Idea # 1

Jack-in-the-pulpit
inside the cabbage like petals
lay a raging flame
rising inside a black hole water from the outside plunges itself in, nurturing the baby seed
so it will no longer be on fire.

Idea # 2

The tree looks like a bunch of arms reaching for heaven.

Idea # 3

When I chewed gently on my first bite the sauce was so spicy that my cheeks were red my eyes were watery but the juicy juice of the lettuce and tomato were fresh on my tongue.

Idea # 4

It felt like a part of me was ripped out of my life because my faithful dog Cosita had died.
My two loving chihuahuas had gone for a snack to Juanita's restaurant. They needed to cross the train track to get there. My caring Chihuahua couldn't stand the smell of the tacos and burritos. So they crossed the dangerous track. On the way back my brightest chihuahua, Paloma, passed quickly because a train was coming. For my other chihuahua it was her last breath to take in the world.

Idea # 5

Darth Vader descends into the mist of battle.

Idea # 6

Once I heard a story about a mother and her daughter who was 3 years old, they loved plants and every day they would come in the kitchen and water their 4 plants, and one day one of the plants had died, but the mother was scared of telling her daughter so she didn't and still the girl insisted on watering the plant every day and one morning they came in to water the plants and saw that the plant that had died bloomed big beautiful flowers. This gave me such belief and faith and love.
